

Dear Trader,

We hope this guide will help you use the 4XFindMe software and service. We also highly recommended that you practice using a Forex demo account before trading with real funds so that you can learn how to use our service without any risk. If you are trading with an account smaller than $5,000 USD, we recommend the FXCM mini account, as the margin requirements and the amount needed to fund the account are substantially less.

For additional support, please do not hesitate to contact your account representative or email us at support@4xfindme.com.

It is our pleasure to assist you.

Sincerely,
Team 4XFindMe

Before you Trade

The 4XFindMe professional trading team monitors the Forex market and sends real-time alerts to the 4XFindMe Forex signal software running on your computer. In addition to displaying exact buy and sell trade calculations, the trading team also monitors the market for currencies that break out of their daily range and displays these trade instructions in the 4XFindMe software.

Additionally, your 4XFindMe subscription includes optional trade alert notification to your email and mobile/cell phone.

Trading Times

4XFindMe sends alerts Monday to Friday from 17:00 EST to 14:00 EST.

Although you can expect alerts anytime during that time frame, we are most active from the start of the Asian session through the opening of the European and American markets.

Exiting a Trade

Exiting a trade is just as important as entering. At times, an exit strategy (called Exit Strategy #1) is displayed in the 4XFindMe software. You can exit using Strategy #1 or with one of the eight exit strategies found in the Exit Strategies User Guide. You may also exit a trade using a strategy of your own.

4XFindMe Email/Mobile Alerts

You may receive email/mobile alerts with your 4XFindMe subscription (optional).

Example email/mobile alert: Prepare to buy/sell [currency]

What Must I Do Once I Receive an Email/Mobile Phone Alert?

The email/mobile alert is just a simple buy or sell message to notify you of an impending trade opportunity. After you receive the email/mobile alert, you need to log into the 4XFindMe software to view the actual trade instructions.

4XFindMe Software Trade Signals

The 4XFindMe software displays two types of Forex signal alerts:

Alert Type 1: Entry Point Alert with Exit Strategy
Includes:	Exact entry point to buy or sell Stop loss Optional exit targets

Alert Type 2: Direction-only Alert
Includes:	A simple message to let you know of a possible trading opportunity and to buy or sell at your own discretion. The trade is either with or against the trend: With the trend: Alerts when a currency breaks out of its short-term range ¹ in the direction of the 4XFindMe medium to long-term trend meters. Against the trend: Alerts when a currency breaks out of its short-term range against the direction of the 4XFindMe medium to long-term trend meters.

1. Every day, each currency pair makes new highs and new lows and establishes a “daily range”. When a currency breaks out of its daily range, 4XFindMe sends you an alert to let you know of the buy or sell opportunity.

4XFindMe Software Login and Charts

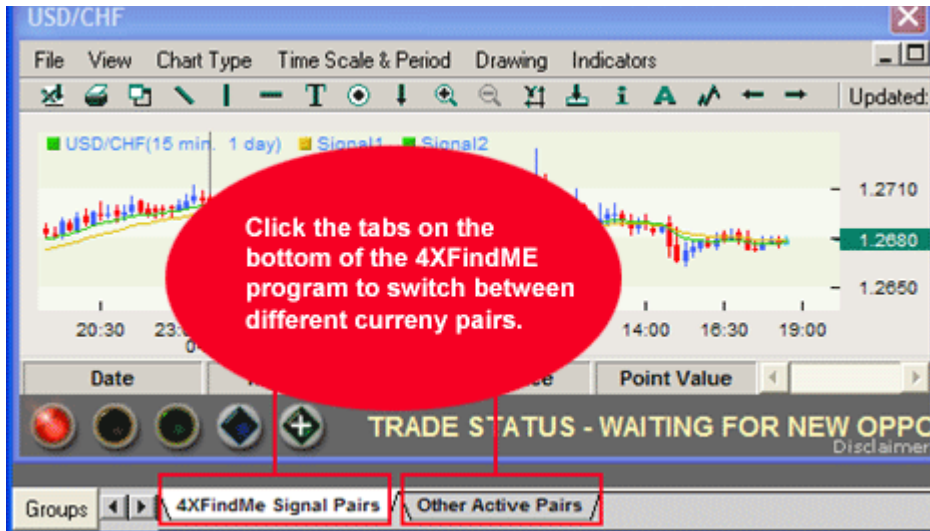

Log into the Software

Use your registered user ID and password to log into the 4XFindMe software.

Charts

After you log in, the software launches the four main 4XFindMe currency pair charts. Underneath each individual currency pair chart you can view our Forex signal lighting bar where trade instructions are displayed.

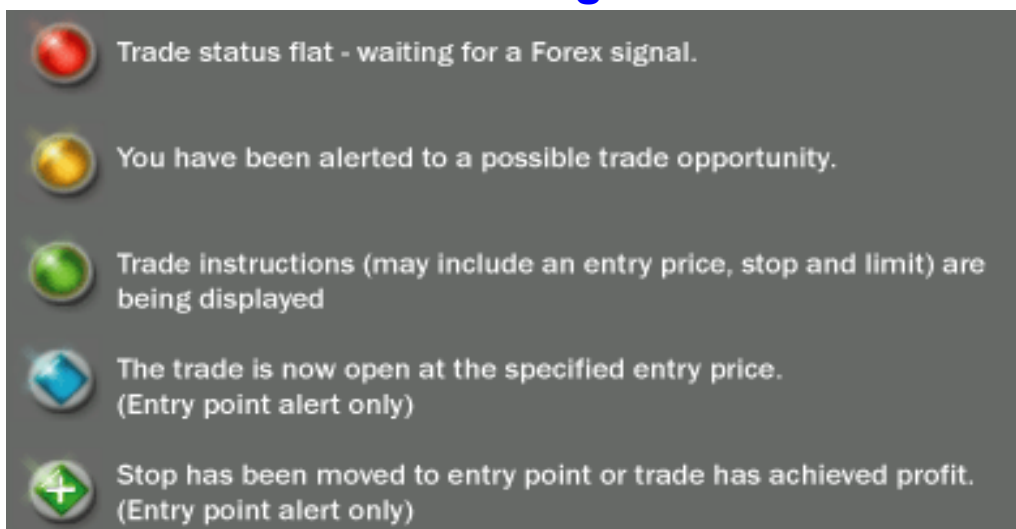

Use the tabs on the bottom of the software to view the other 4XFindMe currency pairs.

4XFindMe Procedure

The following procedure has been written to assist you as you receive signals, or messages, on the charts found in the 4XFindMe software. If you have further questions while you are trading, please do not hesitate to contact us either through live chat on our website, via email, or by calling us directly.

Red light: Awaiting trade opportunity.

- Turn on your computer speakers/mobile phone/alert device.
- We will notify you via email, your alert device, and with a beeping sound through your computer speakers when the market begins moving.
- Relax, no further action is required.

Yellow light: You have been alerted to a possible trade opportunity.

- Anticipate trade instructions to appear on your chart.

Green light: Trade instructions have now been displayed to subscribers worldwide.

- Enlarge the chart with the flashing green light.
- Entry Point Type 1 Alerts
 - Enter the entry order and stop loss as displayed on your screen into your trading station for the respective currency pair.
 - If you are choosing to follow exit strategy #1, enter the target as a limit order in your trading station.
 - If you are trading with one lot, set your limit at target two. If you are trading with multiple lots you can exit some of your open positions at target one and some at target two.
- Direction-Only Type 2 Alerts
 - Enter a trade through your trading station based on your own discretion or trading strategy.
 - If green lights flash again it is because there have been adjustments to the trade instructions or prices. Make adjustments in your trading station as displayed on your screen.

Blue light: This light flashes when the order is executed and the trade is live.

- Entry Point Type 1 Alerts only
 - Check that your order has been filled in your trading station.
 - For those not following exit strategy #1, exit at your own discretion or using the Exit Strategies User Guide.

Diamond light: The trade has reached a 1:1 risk/reward ratio.

- Entry Point Type 1 Alerts only
 - For those following Strategy #1, anticipate instructions to appear as the trade progresses and make adjustments to your trading station as displayed on the screen.

Glossary of Terms

Direction-Only Type 1 Alert: A simple message in the 4XFindMe software to let you know of a possible trading opportunity and to buy or sell at your own discretion.

Entry order: An order in advance to buy or sell a currency pair at a specified market price.

Entry point: The entry price of an order.

Entry Point Alert: A message in the 4XFindMe software that includes a specific entry point, stop loss, and optional exit strategy.

Exit Strategy #1: The stop loss and exit targets that are displayed in the 4XFindMe software during an Entry Point Alert. It is the 4XFindMe preferred exit strategy.

Limit Order: Also known as the “target”, an order given to the deal station to exit a trade when and if the market passes through a specified price (in the direction of profit).

Long: A term used when entering a buy position.

Lot: A currency pair that is bought or sold.

Market order: An order to buy or sell at the current market price.

1:1 risk/reward ratio: When the amount risked equals the amount gained.

Short: A term used when entering a sell position.

Range breakout: Every day, each currency pair makes new highs and new lows and establishes a “daily range”. When a currency breaks out of its daily range, 4XFindMe sends you an alert to let you know of the buy or sell opportunity.

Stop loss: Sometimes referred to as a ‘stop,’ this is an order given to the deal station to exit a trade if the currency gets to a certain price (in the direction of loss).

Target (1, 2 or 3): For traders using Exit Strategy #1; up to three limit orders may be provided with each entry point trade. The limit orders are referred to as Target 1, Target 2 or Target 3.
